President's Report

ANNUAL MEETING

The annual meeting notice was issued prior to the required date, and the 2013 Annual Meeting took place on Saturday, May 4th during our National event in Missouri. A quorum was met and the minutes have been posted to the club web site.

AKC FULL CLUB MEMBERSHIP

On January 23rd the ISAA received an email from the AKC answering our request for full club membership requirements. The reply outlined the 10-year process to achieve full club membership. Based on our activities to date, we maybe able to fulfill the requirements and apply for full club membership by 2022.

Emails received on May 10th and 13th revised the full club membership requirements previously provided by the AKC. The new criteria outlines three stipulations we must meet. We are already qualified in two and will need to survey the club to determine membership participation information, and thereafter can apply for full club membership along with the one time $250 application fee. Upon acceptance, our AKC Delegate will be able to attend Delegate Meetings.

AKC GAZETTE BREED COLUMNIST

A request for a new columnist was issued to the membership in February; three members replied, and Randi Whitacre was named our AKC Gazette Breed Columnist on February 14th. Unfortunately, later in the year it became necessary to replace Randi and Donna McDermott was renamed as our Breed Columnist. As a result of these events, Icelandic Sheepdog quarterly breed articles only appeared in the AKC Gazette in the months of June and December 2013.

2014 CALENDAR COMMITTEE

In February, Amber Jessop and Nancy Robertson volunteered and were named to the 2014 Calendar Committee to serve along with Knox Rhine. Nancy took the lead role with the passing of Knox. Calendars were put on sale in November and through December 17, 91 - 2014 calendars were sold, providing the club income of $510.

Statistics Overview and Comments

CLUB INSURANCE

Directors and Officers Liability Insurance and Club Liability and Accident Insurance were renewed.

CONSTITUTION AND BY-LAWS

A conflict was found between the two sections outlining junior membership requirements. A future change will be needed to correct this oversight.

IRS EXEMPTION APPLICATION

In early July we received notification that the IRS approved the ISAA as a 501c4 organization. Our classification effective date of exemption was retroactive to October 2012. This brings to a close the application process that began in December 2011.

ISIC CONFERENCE

Spike Williamson attended the ISIC conference on October 25-27 in Copenhagen, Denmark on behalf of the club. A summary of the event has been issued and posted to the club's web site.

JUDGE EDUCATION COMMITTEE

A Judge Education Seminar was conducted during the 2013 ISAA National. In addition, at the request of the committee chair, Thordur Runolfsson, Randi Whitacre and Kathryn Ananda-Owens were approved as mentors during the year.

NEWSLETTER

Newsletters were published and distributed to the membership each quarter. Our editor, Jill Johnson, has done a great job and the membership continues to provide interesting articles to be included in our periodical.

SHOWSIGHT MAGAZINE

On March 20, Showsight magazine contacted the board requesting a general and judging articles about the Icelandic Sheepdog for their May 2013 issue. Jill Johnson submitted a general article about the Icelandic Sheepdog, as requested by Showsight magazine. Independently, the magazine contacted and received a judging article from Jo-Ann Secondino.

Breeding Information:

The Icelandic Sheepdog International Cooperation (ISIC) asks that each country track stud dogs and breeding females who have reached or are close to the ISIC breeding limits. This is meant to assist breeders in making breeding decisions.

ISAA recommends that all breeders follow the ISIC recommendations as to breeding limits.

- ◆ The number of offspring from a single male should be no more than 35
- ◆ The number of offspring for a single female should be no more than 25
- ◆ The number of grandchildren should be no more than twice the number of offspring during the life of the dog.

The results that follow are through 2012 only as the pedigree generator needs to be updated.

Health Summary

The Icelandic Sheepdog Association of America (ISAA) joins the country of origin, other recognized breed clubs and the Icelandic Sheepdog International Cooperation (ISIC) to work together to protect and maintain breed health. This includes encouraging health testing and sharing results in the OFA and CERF registries as well as participating in studies and research. Additionally, contributing to the CHIC DNA Repository, co-sponsored by the OFA and the AKC/CHF is encouraged as they collect and store canine DNA samples along with corresponding genealogic and phenotypic information to facilitate future research and testing aimed at reducing the incidence of inherited disease in dogs.

Hip Dysplasia (HD)

Two methods of hip testing are done in the United States: PennHip and OFA.

PennHip: This method recommends breeding only dogs with an above average score, so starting at the 60th percentile is recommended. The scores that correlate with the different percentiles may change as genetic progress is made from one generation to the next, moving the breed average towards tighter hips.

PennHip	2013 (thru 10-28-13)	2012	2011	2009	2007
Total Dogs Tested (cumulative)	181	175	167	137	96
Minimum Score (tightest hips)	0.24	0.24	0.24	0.25	0.25
Maximum Score (loosest hips)	0.96	0.96	0.96	0.94	0.83
25th percentile	0.65	0.65	0.65	0.65	0.65
50th percentile	0.53	0.53	0.53	0.53	0.50
60th percentile	0.50	0.50	0.50	0.50	0.47
75th percentile	0.44	0.44	0.44	0.44	0.44

OFA: The Orthopedic Foundation for Animals (OFA) also maintains a registry for testing. Normal is considered excellent, good, fair, poor and borderline. Abnormal is mild HD, Moderate HD and severe HD. According to OFA, "There is no clear cut consensus between the radiologists to place the (borderline) hip into a given category of normal or dysplastic". The following are the cumulative statistics available on the Icelandic Sheepdog:

Statistics Overview and Comments

Eye examinations

The CERF and OFA registries register those dogs certified free of heritable eye disease by members of the American College of Veterinary Ophthalmologists (ACVO) and collects data on all dogs examined by ACVO Diplomates. This data is used to form the CERF and OFA data bases which are useful in researching trends in eye disease and breed susceptibility. Until 2012, all of that information was maintained by CERF. Since late 2012, however, owners have been given a choice as to whether they would like data kept in the OFA or CERF databases. CERF does continue to send information to OFA for posting to each dog's individual entry in their database.

The A.C.V.O. Diplomate completes the CERF or OFA form and indicates any specific disease(s) found. Breeding advice is offered based on guidelines established for that particular breed by the genetics committee of the ACVO.

Regardless of the outcome of the dog's exam, the research copy of the CERF or OFA form will be sent to the CERF or OFA office where its information is entered into the database for that specific breed. This information is used in generating research reports, but the individual dogs' identities are confidential and never released.

Member dogs also earn titles in other clubs and venues, such as United Kennel Club and the International All Breed Canine Association, but the club relies on self-reporting by members for these titles.

Please see Appendix F for a list of AKC new titles of record earned by ISAA member dogs.

Appendix G: AKC Herding Tests Description

Herding tests are open to dogs nine months of age and older, with the exception of the Instinct test, which is open to dogs six months and older. All Icelandic Sheepdogs that are registered with the AKC, including altered dogs that are registered through the AKC's PAL (formerly ILP) Program, are allowed to register. Herding tests are done on a pass/fail basis, there is no scoring. A pass is referred to as a qualification.

Instinct Test: An instinct test is done in an area that is between 50' x 50' and 100' by 100'. The corners of the arena should be rounded. The dog is brought in on a line 6–15 feet. While on the line a dog must demonstrate a stop (sit, down, or stand) and a recall. The leash/line is then dropped or removed. Only the judge and handler are allowed in the test area with the dog and stock. The dog must show sustained interest in the stock by going around them, gathering, driving, or a combination.

Herding Test: The herding test is done in a slightly larger area than the instinct test. The test area for sheep is a minimum of 100' by 100'. Two markers or cones are placed on the center line at opposite ends. (You may wish to refer to the diagram on page 27 of the AKC Herding regulations <http://www.akc.org/pdfs/rulebooks/RG9001.pdf>.)

The dog, handler, and judge enter the test area. When the judge determines that the dog is under control, the judge will instruct the handler to place the dog in a sit, stand, or down/stay position, and then to remove the leash. The test (and time) begins when the leash is removed. The handler will then walk away from the dog to an appropriate position in relation to the stock while the dog remains in the stay position. The judge will then signal the handler to send the dog. A dog that breaks the stay will not fail on that account alone. During the test, the judge can provide verbal assistance, but will not place take a position that will influence the stock with body placement.

There are five elements to this test:

- 1) Controlled pause or stop at the beginning;
- 2) and 3) Two changes in direction of stock at or near the appropriate marker. (Most use either a "C" pattern along the fence line from one marker to the other with three passes or a figure eight pattern through the middle three times. Both include two changes in direction.)
- 4) A stop; and
- 5) A recall at the conclusion.

After the recall, the judge will indicate completion of the test. The handler will then leash the dog and leave the test area. During the test, the dog must demonstrate controlled movement of the flock. A herding test ends when the dog has completed all the elements or the time limit of 10 minutes is reached, whichever comes first.

Pre-Trial Test: A dog does not need to have completed a herding test in order to enter a pre-trial test. A pre-trial test is done in an even larger area than the herding test, a minimum of 100' x 200' and a maximum of 200' X 400'. Two panels are placed at the far end of the arena.

Appendices

After entering the arena the dog must demonstrate a controlled pause (sit, down, or stand). The leash is then removed. The dog must stay in the pause until the handler repositions. The judge will then signal or instruct the handler to send the dog. A dog that “breaks” the pause will not qualify.

The dog then moves the stock down one side of the arena between the panel and fence, around the corner to the end, and then around the next corner, continuing to move the stock between the second panel and fence. Direction is reversed approximately half-way down the 2nd long side. The dog continues to move the flock back through the panels in the reverse direction to the pen. The judge may advise the handler during the test but may not physically assist in the control of the livestock.

The handler puts the dog in a stay (sit, stand, or down), opens the gate, and commands the dog to pen the stock. The closing of the pen gate signals the end of the test. The handler then leashes the dog. During the test the stock must pass through four gates (space between panels and fence) and hold the stock in a stop (controlled pause).

The pre-trial test has five elements:

- 1) A stay (a controlled pause);
- 2) Controlled passage of the stock – including clearing the four gates (between panel and fence) and a change of direction;
- 3) One stop on the course (many find it easiest to do this right before the change of direction on the long side);
- 4) One stop while the handler opens the pen gate; and
- 5) Penning the stock.

The AKC leaves retriefs at gates and pens up to the judge. A dog must complete all elements within 10 minutes. The time begins once the leash is removed.

Certificates and Titles: In order to receive an AKC certificate for the instinct test or an AKC title for the herding test or pre-trial test, a dog must qualify under two different judges at AKC-licensed herding events. These titles are suffix titles.

The AKC Herding Certificate/Test Titles are as follows:

Instinct Test - AKC awards a certificate but not a title for the instinct test. (The Herding Instinct Certificate is sometimes confused with the title HIC or the abbreviation HIT. HIC is a title awarded for an Intermediate level trial on the “C” course. HIT is commonly used at a trial to refer to High in Trial.)

Herding Test - HT stands for herding tested.

Pre-trial Test – PT stands for Pre-Trial tested.

Note: A PT title will supersede a HT title when an HT has been previously awarded.
